

Physical fitness, team sports and supervised play all enhance our children's social skills and communication.

One in 94 children in New Jersey is diagnosed on the autistic spectrum.

Dear Friend of the The Children's Institute:

When you visit The Children's Institute (TCI) you can't help but notice the energy, love of learning, enthusiasm and the zest for life that the students demonstrate.

Children are attending classes, working in the computer lab, participating in arts programs and playing sports, while older students are working at local businesses.

TCI provides academic instruction, therapeutic services, social activities and after school and respite programs all focused on helping children on the autistic spectrum and with related disabilities achieve their maximum potential. These children have hopes and dreams and TCI staff strive to make these dreams a reality.

While local school districts cover tuition, we need your help in supplementing the school program and providing additional programs all children need and deserve. These activities help our students become productive young adults, enhance their self-esteem and create confidence to participate in social activities.

Please make your contribution today and help our children make their dreams come true. Thank you for giving generously.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Mainardi
President, Board of Directors
